How sneaky! You senators voted for the CFPB knowing that you could bring it down like your big $$ backers want! Seems that these senators, elected to represent us, don't want fairness and protection of the financial interests of working people who want to save and invest! Shame on those who side with wealth at all costs! Consumers need financial protection! Confirm this man, NOW!

To those Senators we say: It is time to change your position. We need the CFPB to be effective. We urge you to reject the use of the confirmation process - and the filibuster - to undo legislation passed by wide majorities in the House and Senate, signed by the President, and supported by large majorities of the public.

Any senator who does not confirm Rich Cordray is someone who does not care about the American people or his/her constituents, but rather are the protectors of banking officials and other financial institutions who deceive the public and literally steal monies through their deceptions and illegal activities. Corporate crime is basically organized crime and senators who protect the criminals are in fact accomplices to those crimes.

This is outrageous behavior by Senate Republicans--but what did you expect after the cowardly refusal by the Democratic leadership to get real reform of the filibuster, which the Republicans are using just as brazenly as they did in the previous congress.

You want to cut consumer protections, but I have heard no discussion over the exorbitant rents you pay for state department personnel. Yes, I consider $40,000 far too much to pay for a monthly rent per person! And as for defense, why does the American public pay to move families of military personnel overseas, pay for private schools? Cut the excess - not the necessities!

it's time the Senate members started to worry about their constituents instead of their own political agenda. Much of the problem lies in the procedures adopted by the Senate over many years. I believe it is time to overhaul the Senate procedures to address how bills are handled and how the Senate operates. Perhaps MoveOn should take action to force changes to Congresses methods of operation.

Holding up confirmation of a CFPB nominee just because one doesn't approve of the agency actually doing the job it was created for (specifically, protecting Americans), is ridiculous and unacceptable. The stalling tactics have gone far enough; the disgruntled parties in question should confirm Rich Cordray and quit wasting his time and ours.

Maybe it is time to throw all incumbents out. Congress could be changed 100% in one fell swoop and one third of the Senate. It is time to fire all of them in order to wake up all future leaders of our country. Let's have a bloodless revolution--vote for no incumbents no matter what party they are in. Fire all of them.

Americans including myself are upset with the obstructionism of the GOP -- you are wasting our time and money. Please know that I will be doing everything I possibly can to ensure that Toomey is NO re-elected. His position on the Veterans Jobs Bill, gun regulations, taxation -- and the obstructionism of appointments have made me DETERMINED to ensure that both Toomey and Corbert are NOT RE-ELECTED.

What is the matter with you people? You're supposed to represent us, not defend the deceptive financiers that almost destroyed our country and have left so many of our citizens homeless and without jobs. Do your own job and start protecting us.

Consumers NEED a strong defender of their financial rights. It is long past time for the Senators who don't like the law that created the agency to behave like reasonable adults and stop trying to force unreasonable changes in the law that would weaken the agency. It is time to confirm Mr. Cordray to be the Director of this Agency and provide this protection to consumers.

You are supposed be working for the people you represent. Do your job. The political system is a disgrace & has strayed far from what it is meant to be. You don't care about populace you are supposed to be representing. Now it's about your careers as politicians, personal gain & now most of the time work against the common man. You should all be tarred & feathered. You & your actions are shameful.

Crooked corporations, the 1% have congress' ears, ergo, we the people, need a counterbalance to that purchasing power they have of our three branches of government. Just if it's for show and tell and no claws, why not give at least the appearance of congress caring for the 99%?

It has become a way of life for a certain group of Congress people to constantly block any kind of progressive proposals put before them, no matter how negative the results may be for the good of the country. Why are they there? Who are they caucasing for? What is their real agenda? Why should we, the taxpayers pay their salaries if they continuously and contemptuously obstruct whatever is good for the people of the country? Absolutely disgusting!

Is the function of the Senate to govern in the best interest of the their constituents, or, should they continue to perpetuate the same misinformation in that they are working in the best interest of the country regardless of the perception of their satisfying personal political egos?

The failure of government to adequately punish and perhaps thereby vilify the enriched bad actors in the financial crisis, or crises, of 2007 onward, has demoralized the average citizen consumer. Folks are bummed and cynical, and enervated. Only a potent consumer protection regime can re-awaken the power of the consumer to take action to rein in those who would decimate the finances of the average Joe.

I am really sick of my senators siding with big finance's interests over mine. If they join in efforts to block Richard Cordray's appointment, I want them to know I will work against them in every way possible when they are up for reelection.

I am sick of the games. We ordinary citizens have elected you to do a job, and instead, we get obstructionists, whiners and drama queens who care about nothing but their own fundraising and re-elections. Meanwhile, people are suffering - hard working, responsible taxpayers - people who pay your salary. Talk about the "makers" and the "takers"! If you're an obstructionist, you're taking a salary and doing nothing for those of us who are working hard and EARNING a living!

The abuse of the filibuster abuses the democracy of the USA and abolishes the will of the majority of US voters. It is shockingly destructive and must end. Responsible senators in the senate need to awaken and do the right thing – stop filibustering and respect what the majority of the voters want and voted for! Rich Cordray deserves to serve the US consumers! Sincerely, Barbara Rogers

It is time to stop obstructing! Whether because of AVARICE or COWARDICE the Senate minority have delayed the people's business long enough! I am personally embarassed by the latest efforts of my TEXAS SENATORS. I will not vote for either one in the future unless they start showing some of that Texas courage NOW! Do the right thing for the country! Let the special interests do what they may.

You are elected to serve "The People"..not just your special interests. When you work against allowing this man his post and against all wisdom you have shown that you are "for you" and not "for the people". Enough of this ridiculous self-serving behavior...stand up and be the Men and Women we, the people deserve, and stop blocking this confirmation.

Please support Senator Warren's efforts to protect us, your constituents, from manipulation and trickery by the powerful institutions that have had free reign for too long. They are killing us. My families entire retirement protection, IRA's, 401K's, and cancelled Defined Pensions have left us and millions of other good people on the verge of disaster. Please, help her control the abuses and give us a voice. Thank you both for your consideration and service.

Greetings! I sign this petition is good faith!! Some members of the U. S. Senate believe in obstructionism and will do anything to STOP President Obama from getting the job done...WE need a strong leader to head up the CFPB!! We need to support Rich Cordray!! I stand with Sen. Warren from MA and Obama in support of this nomination and confirmation: Rich Cordray as Director of the CFPB. I hope you support him too!! Thanks, Greg

I had never even heard of the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau until I saw this petition. Maybe the CFPB needs to be doing a whole lot more on behalf of the citizen consumers of the United States of America. Then again, maybe the obstructionist Senators are plotting an IMF-EU template for Cyprus-style bank theft from consumer citizens of the USA and they don't want the CFPB standing in the way of the globalist criminal banksters who have surely got their eye on U.S. bank accounts as something they think they can get away with stealing. Thank you for this alert!

By all means continue to excuse executive abuse of your constituents, but make sure we don't have any recourse! This agency is important and we CAN afford it! We CAN'T afford to neglect the practices that trashed this economy in 2008. Stand up and do the right thing.

Director Cordray has been re-nominated to serve a full term. His leadership has won praise from Republicans and Democrats, and from bankers and consumer advocates. And yet, for two years, a group of Senators has held his appointment hostage.. To those Senators we say: It is time to change your position. We need the CFPB to be effective. We urge you to reject the use of the confirmation process - and the filibuster - to undo legislation passed by wide majorities in the House and Senate, signed by the President, and supported by large majorities of the public. The choice before the Senate is simple: allow an up-or-down vote on this nomination, or open the door to more of the slippery financial practices that the CFPB is working hard to prevent. That would be terrible not only for consumers but for responsible lenders and the broader economy.

This is very long overdue. Please note that although much of the $16 trillion in wealth lost from 2007 through 2008/2009 has been restored, it has moved up to a smaller percentage of the population. To me, this sidelines millions of working age adults who could be doing something more productive than those in the 45 t0 65 range have had to resort to SSI insurance for lack of anything else that would stop such a waste of our potential not only for them but through anything that would get them back to paying taxes and helping restore our infrastructure, research, and education of the next generations we need to become as productive as the modern competitive world needs. We are slipping and seem to be stripping the engines we need to keep up. Financial chicanery that is more like gambling than productive use of capital is destroying us. Help get productive people able to do something useful, the next generations prepared, and the infrastructure ready to be a better player in the future.

I am from Nebraska and there is little that can be done to offset the millions that put a KNOW NOTHING senator in, and keep another of the same bent, in the Senate. But we can only hope that racism will some day be set aside in the interest of good government.

By maneuvering by certain senators is certainly counter-productive and just as certainly is not a proper way to change the legislation that authorizes the CFPB. All Americans are being held hostage by childish tactics. Please, if you are truly opposed to the CFPB in its present form, either honorably and transparently introduce the reform you seek or just hold your collective breaths until you get your way....

It is time that Congress begin to protect "We THE PEOPLE" from the legalized loan sharking of credit card companies and predatory lenders. The most recent legislation resulted in higher monthly payments to consumers while the Federal Government bailed out arrogant bankers using our tax dollars. The consumer protection agency needs to have more power not less. Vote this bill down!

Ya know, it's time to tell government enough is enough. It's gotten way to big for its own good. It seems to have tunnel vision...tries to cut any program that does good for the people who depend on them and have contributed to them throughout the years. It's time to say STOP THIS NON-SENSE...be adults, talk things out, think about the people who got you there in the first place (it wasn't only the wealthy), don't act like a bunch of spoiled brats (that you are).

Republicans care nothing about the struggles of hard-working Americans, only in pandering to their Big Business cronies. Republicans are systematically trying to destroy our democracy. They want a plutocracy/oligarchy. Their refusal to confirm Rich Cordray is just another example of it. Disgusting. Do your job for a change and VOTE TO CONFIRM RICH CORDRAY.

Senators! It is way past time for there to be a change of focus in your thinking. As a nation we must relentlessly find ways to achieve the greatest good for the greatest number for the longest possible time. Financial institutions are not exempt! They need to be held to a standard which serves the greatest number, not the privileged interests of a few.

It is high time that the majority of the American people's interests are considered. I for one am sick and tired of protected those who are well off, are able to retire early, and need not worry about the cost of health care. The "little guy" needs advocacy against banks and other financial institutions which seek to make an esoteric few rich as the expense of the rest of us. This agency is a great idea. It's way past time to appoint its leader. Do something positive Congress!

I found this agency rarely helps the consumer...they sent me an email telling me what the credit card company said as if it were true...even though I had written letters by the company to the contrary...not sure what good this bureau does but i found it did not help me - the consumer when the credit card company lost my payment, my bank got involved, then found it 4 months later which is in violation of the fair credit standards act, refused to give me the $3000 they owed me, ruined my credit and all this bureau did was send me an "oh well, they said they helped you" email....

Since Congress only seems to protect the wealthy and the businesses, the average American needs protection against something. It's almost as though we don't matter in the scheme of things any more. What is really sad is that money seems to buy almost everything, except a heart and honesty.

We need this agency and Mr. Cordray. The credit card companies are still screwing us over with their outrageous interest rates and they will not give you a lower interest rate no matter how many times you ask them to lower it. I have never missed a payment and I always try to pay at least double what the minimum payment is and usually triple and they still won't work with me at lowering a 20% rate. I think they need even more regulation and interest rate caps. Especially interest rate caps. Before these changes went into effect in 2010 I think it was they raised my interest rate by 10% just because they could even though I never missed a payment and was never late. And like I said they won't even discuss lowering it. The consumers need this bureau and we need Mr. Cordray.

The banking and lending companies including credit card companies are making money hand over fist from taxpayers. And then they get subsidized with tax payer dollars. This is outrageous and you have been elected to fix this problem. This tells me that our government is for the rich and famous and not for the common taxpayer like me. Beverly Ray

If you Senator's are holding out to get this institution you do it at your own peril. After what the banks did to the people of this country you should be ashamed. It is a blatant attempt to protect your donors, not your constituents. Why don't you squash the military F-35 project, which has been a big boondoggle since it began. This a panel that we "non blessed legislators" want and need, and voting against it is showing your real colors.

If you actually know the difference between right and wrong, you clearly know the right thing to do is to Confirm Rich Cordray so the CFPB can take actions to protect the public. If you don't move to confirm Rich Cordray, you are clearly revealing your corrupt agenda to protect big money instead of your REAL JOB of protecting "we, the people". Shame on you !!!!!!!

Please stop filibustering nominees! The practice, as used during the past 5 years, is a petulant minority using procedures and privilege, NOT the Constitution - to prevent the majority from governing. It is a primary reason for the very low rating that Congress has among its constituents. Please END the practice. Rarely, a nominee might be worth serious questioning, but the current practice of routinely blocking nominees is unfair to the people of the United States.

Harry Reid made a huge mistake by not changing the filibuster rules. We no longer have a democracy, we have rule by threat. Nothing is getting done because the minority won't allow progress. Their actions are simply based on absolutely nothing. They want this president to fail and that is NOT acceptable. PLEASE DO NOT allow them to get away with this.

Just as importantly, tell Harry Reid to man up and change the filibuster rules. The GOP is imposing its true agenda -- dismantling the federal government -- merely by engaging in a never-ending series of obstructionist tactics. We the people are essentially being blocked from fulfilling our manifest destiny by a minority of self-important "citizens" who have decided that their vision is the only one that matters. This cannot stand. The U.S. Constitution was neither written nor designed to work this way. There is no mention of a filibuster in the Constitution, so even under the terms of strict constructionists, it should be simple to rein in its use. Tell Harry to get off his @$$ and make sure the Senate works the way our Founding Fathers intended it to work.

More of the same big money interests in politics, like we,ve seen from the right since Reagan, will keep us on the path to class warfare in America. Defund deregulation now! Don,t let greed be the reason this great nation sees it,s second civil war; the war between the classes.

You can't have it both ways, have banks and investment entities be"too big to fail, too big to go to jail", ie., able to 'runamok after profits at all costs', and then turn around and gut the consumer protection entities that keep us, we, the people, from being buffetted about by the inequities, improprieties, economic hits, punitive effects of environmental disasters, etc. WE'VE got to have something that keeps us safe, and covers the gap when their economic decisions and compromises cause us disaster or harm. Please confirm RIck Cordray, who will fight for our rights and due processes. The inroads on the consumer, the 'little guy', are horrendous, and need to be stopped (IF you want us to be viable financial entities ourselves so that we can go out and spend money freely and confidently, and in so doing, prop up your precious profits. It's all part and parcel of the same system, and we need this Checks and Balances effect. Stop nicking us, the 99%, in order to maintain the 1%.

The typical US citizen needs the CFPB and RIch Cordray. Banking and lending practices are difficult for anyone without a business and/or legal background to fully understand. My PhD daughter-in-law did not fully understand the education loans she had to acquire to complete her education. Why would most US citizens be able to decipher the pages and pages of legalese in loan and credit card documents ? As a citizen whom you represent, I implore you to vote for Rich Cordray on an up-or-down confirmation vote.

We need "farmers" to guard the "chicken coup."

DianaFraley
Beloit, WI 53511
Mar 30, 2013

What has happened to the Republican Party? There used to be a complaint about the "left" -- that it wasn't "patriotic". And yet no one could question the fundamental desire, whether one agreed with the means and ideals or not, that those people wanted a prosperous and happy nation for all. It is clear that the Republican Party as a collective entity no longer does want a prosperous and happy nation for all. It is willing to destroy at least part of our society, and sacrifice at least part of our community, for the sake of a vision that fundamentally contradicts anything we can understand by the words "perfect union" in our founding documents. In short, they want a different country from the one we and they now share. This is truly a clear and present danger. I have no idea what can be done to limit the damage, but we truly are in danger.

While not sure a fox from the henhouse is the wisest man for the Protection Bureau because of past ties to the banks he will be called upon to represent consumers against, I agree that filibustering any nominee is against the traditions of our nation, and nothing more than the refusal of the GOP to allow the new administration to complete their team appointments, for the sake of stopping more attacks upon the illicit banks, for the sake of campaign funds for the GOP!

While I respect the rights of the minority to be heard I believe that such tactics being used by the Republicans in the U.S. Senate make a mockery of the 2012 election when the majority of the people supported a Democratic president and Senate. Enough of this defiance of the will of the people.

Represent the American people and not Big Banks by allowing the CFPB to do its job by confirming Mr. Cordray as its director. Quit playing your political games. The country needs this type of help.

I still think we need to separate consumer banking from the risk-taking trading side of the business. I don't want to have to bail out big banks again. Gutting the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau is the only place looking out for small savers and investors -- who DON'T want to play with the big high rollers -- and certainly don't want to read yards of small print.

I am sick of the Republican bully tactics. They didn't win the last election, but they're acting as if they should have, and won't let the real winners do anything. It is shockingly childish and devastatingly dangerous. Someone give Harry Reid a spine and get rid of the fillibuster, so nominees can get confirmed sometime during Obama's presidency.

Cut wasteful spending on "defense," which is actually "offense." Leave North Korea alone. All they want is to be left alone, they are not an aggressor nation. Your threat is a scam devised by pentagon and congress cheats in kahoots with the arms industry, to fool the American people into agreeing to cuts to useful programs. Stop scamming the people and find the courage to do your jobs HONESTLY.

GOP: When you have enough votes to control the Senate by simple majority, you can get most of what you want in terms of policy. Losing policy positions, and a shrinking minority of the popular vote means you either work with the majority, or sit down and shut up. Uncompromising ideological policy positions have cast your lot. Continuing to filibuster cabinet nominees in order to prevent implementation of law will keep you out of power. Get with it or go home! Congress was never intended to be a career anyway. Think about that while blocking the will of the people for personal gain ....

This is simply disgraceful. You have delayed this confirmation in order to give Wall Street still more room to steal our money and put the economy back into the toilet. The only two Republican Senators, Lisa Murkowski and Scott Brown, showed any class and common sense in this bill's previous hearing last year. Good for them. Shame on you!

You must do your duty, and stop trying to block the nomination of a perfectly good candidate for director of CFPB, Rich Cordray. Let the Senate vote up or down on this man. Stop trying to serve your corporate masters, and let there be better CFPB regulation of Wall Street. Their big banks nearly destroyed the American economy. Don't let this happen again. Cordray will help reduce the chances of it happening again.

The current day House of Representatives and Senate has forgotten that its power is derived from the people, not the corporations that finance their political campaigns. This bureau protects the people from the enormous amount of money that corporations can pour into political campaigns in the face of the "Citizens United" ruling. If Congress tries to gut this bureau, it is just a further confirmation that the majority of our elected representatives are beholden to the wealthiest in our society. Every single time a congressperson or senator invokes the Founding Fathers, I wonder if they remember that this nation was founded to ensure that wealth and power was NOT concentrated into the hands of a nobility at the expense of the majority of people, like that which existed in Europe. It's sad what this nation has become, and it's even sadder that Republicans unapologetically argue that democracy only exists if the wealthiest in our society control it!

when are we as a people going to come out in the streets en masse, withhold our labor, stop voting until our voices are truly heeded and otherwise show that we'll no longer be held the fool?do we really have to withhold our people power until our backs are truly to the wall (and too late to effectuate change)?

Consumers and little people are the ones suffering from this "recession". Our meager savings earn less than 1%, but credit card companies stiff us with usurious rates. Now even banks are in the gangster payday loan business. Consumer financial protections is VERY NECESSARY! I just pray that Rich Cordray will do a good job. If you hold up the show by not confirming him pronto, I'll remember it and tell all my friends, neighbors, and relatives.

Let the CFPB move forward with Rich Cordray! It's not just those who've lost their homes that suffer--the rest of us are suffering from the indirect effects of our faltering economy. We're not seeing a "recovery" in OUR communities. We need better protections from predatory banking.

It is time to choose! As with the assault weapons ban it is time to choose the interests of the general public and do what the majority of voters in this country wish you would. If you gut the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau and do not pass an assault weapons ban you are choosing corporate profits over public health, safety and the financial well being of working people in our country. If you choose to betray the interests of the majority of voters in the U.S. and continue with your class warfare you will pay for it with your jobs!

To Our Honorable and Appreciated Representatives, You have been elected in an amazing time. A time when the fight for American Freedom & Democracy must be waged, again. This time against those who cloak themselves in God and Country and use our sons & daughters in the Armed Services as agents of acquisition of personal wealth at home and in foreign lands. Thank You for trying to do the right thing.

Enough of this obstructionism! Are you interested in effective government or only money and re-election. Wake up and support the society that allowed you to prosper. Ultimately the only capital that's important is "human capital": the most overlooked resource on the planet!

The politicians working in the Federal Government are for the most part self interested and have overall failed the American Public at large. Please prove me wrong by keeping the CFPB strong and non-partisan so it can continue to protect the average consumers from selfish CEOs and politicians who want nothing more than money.

The Republicans today apparently don't believe they should ever lose anything - even when they clearly do. So they'll rig the vote/chamber/law/agency to fix it that they don't. This isn't legislation. This is dictatorship American style. What a bunch of pigs.

We, the People, demand a clean-up of the financial and banking industry. We are outraged that those guilty of financial malpractice are not more heavily fined and serve prison time equal to the crime. Please confirm Rich Cordray and empower Consumer Financial Protection Bureau get to work cleaning up ian ndustry that have so hurt so many American, and financial institutions if many other nation

I trust Warren, this must not be allowed to happen! "Blocking Rich Cordray is about weakening the agency," says Warren. It's "about keeping the game rigged" so "consumers remain in the dark -- and a few bad actors can rake in big profits."

What ever happened to "Of the people, by the people, for the people"? Seems like it's all for the big corporations these days, and forget about the people. If Wall Street and banks had been better regulated we probably wouldn't have had the foreclosure crisis which led to the economic collapse of 2008. Somebody has to look out for the people of America and stand up to big money interests. Of course senators line their pockets with those special interests in the form of campaign contributions. Please do the right thing for the people of America and let citizens be protected from the financial vultures preying on the weak. Sincerely, Barbara Ingalls

Put the names behind the vote on the internet! If you block this be forewarned- the average guy has wized up- we will vote you out! What has gone on in Washington is outrageous- time and again taxpayers are cheated by big business and the rich... be they students,soldiers,home-owners...Has Congress no shame?!! Shape up or we will ship you out! You work for us- forget that and you will be unemployed!! Sincerel, Mary Fox

We ordinary citizens are helpless against all the financial predators that are ever lurking "around every corner" trying to take what little we have worked so hard for. We need a strong agency that can stand up to these forces. All to often consumer get ripped off for billions of dollars. And assuming the financial crook is caught and tried, there is a fine, maybe, and jail, maybe. But do people ever get their money back??

I'm getting so sick of obstruction to Obama's nominations by the hard-headed Republicans. Thumbing their noses at Obama seems to be their goal, rather than helping our country move forward in the economy, protect citizens against consumer fraud, uphold reasonable abortion laws, keep National Parks open, and on and on. I depend our Oregon's Senators to be voting with the welfare of our country in mind, not the welfare of the rich.

When you have a good, intelligent person running this Bureau, you shouldn't fire him because he is doing a good job. It's too bad you all don't take his work ethics & apply it to all of you idiots. Keep him doing the job Americans have come to trust. Unlike you guy's that we don't trust.

The current credit system punishes people for being poor and sets them up so they can not recover. It is shameful. We need to examine the entire system. There must be a better way so that people who have temporary financial problems are not placed in a position so bad goes to worse and with the later fees and credit blots, it becomes a rapid downward spiral.

Cordray is well-qualified to lead the CFP bureau, and should be confirmed without delay. Holding up his confirmation based upon ideological disputes with the CFP bureau itself is properly handled through the legislative process, not by obstructionism.

There is a growing feeling in this country that the Congress just does not work any more - that they just do not respond to the will of the people generally but only to the will of the corporations. With your votes on the important issue of confirming the appointment of Rich Cordray you will be clearly showing on which side you stand.

Elizabeth Warren had vision when she had the idea to create the CFPB after the 2008 financial crisis. It's absolutely imperative that this agency be supported and that Richard Cordray's nomination be approved. The banks caused pain and suffering throughout our nation. CFPB provides protection to ordinary American from a predatory industry. The Senate must side with the citizens, not the banks.

Rich Cordray has done an outstanding job in his role with the CFPB. The agency is necessary to oversee the banking and lending institutions. I am one American who is still feeling the negative effects of their actions in 2006, 07 and 08. We need to support the consumers more not the other way around.

Here we have members of our Congress working to undermine the structure and purpose of our government (is this Patriotism?) And, selfishly, by a double standard method they would vilify if applied by others to an appointee they supported. These are sad times for our democracy - please avoid adding more straws to the camel's back: please let the will of the people prevail - allow the up/down vote on the nomination.

CNN should do a better job in reporting any story in it's full context CNN failed to call out falsehood during the election. They reported the news comparing both party instead stating the issue them self to a standard if truth. It gives a false impression about the facts that are not exposed with clarity.

Senator McConnell promised Senator Reid he would hold back on the filibusters just as he promised two years ago. He broke his bargain then and is doing it now, holding up this nomination with the need for a two-thirds vote. The Republicans apparently want the recession- causing policies to topple our economy again, causing hardship to most of us. Have they no conscience or love for our country and its well being?

To Senators Cornyn and Cruz, please remember that the Texans you represent are all, regardless of political party, consumers, students needing loans for college, veterans, and families wanting to live securely in a home they can buy without worry of fraud or deception. You were elected to represent all Texans; this is your chance to show you understand that obligation.

To those Senators we say: It is time to change your position. We need the CFPB to be effective. We urge you to reject the use of the confirmation process - and the filibuster - to undo legislation passed by wide majorities in the House and Senate, signed by the President, and supported by large majorities of the public. The choice before the Senate is simple: allow an up-or-down vote on this nomination, or open the door to more of the slippery financial practices that the CFPB is working hard to prevent. That would be terrible not only for consumers but for responsible lenders and the broader economy. Thanks, Paul J. Biondi (541)746-6222

The Consumer Financial Protection Bureau is an agency that concerns itself with looking out for the American middle class against manipulative and unethical practices by wealthy institutions to take advantage of the average consumer. I urge you to confirm Rich Cordray to be our voice against the powerful and ruthless entities who only look out for themselves. If this agency fails, democracy in America, with a Republican Party so out of touch, will be one more stab in the heart for equality. Sincerely, Marianne Nemeth

The more that comes out about the hand full of Congressmen that are pushing for change to SS, Medicare, etc. And now the Consumer Financial Protection Bureau it seems they are crooks and belong behind bars. Not just voted out. They want to change all sorts of rules, laws, amendments anything that protects the American people to take more for themselves and the wealthy friends. They are so corrupt if it were anyone else they would be behind bars. I want them either to forfeit there perks packages and get what we are getting. Or we should have the same benefits they get.... I think Washington has to stop referring to SS, Medicare and the likes as "entitlements" we earned them. Congressmen have done nothing but line there own pockets. There crooks. Lee Hunt

The CFPB is already a watered-down response to the predatory nature of business in the U.S. - and still, the corporate puppets in our Congress want to eliminate it entirely. Their fundamentalist belief in unregulated business is turning the U.S. into a feudal state run by detached corporate CEOs with sociopathic tendencies and zero answers for the growing inequality that defines this nation. Enough. We need to turn this ship around.

How can government run with so many lossers. When Government officials block the confirmation of an individual because the don't like he or she it is disgusting. In the real world if somebody is not doing their job they are fired. It seems in government if they don't kiss ass's their out the door. Doing the job has nothing to do with it.

I am disgusted that some senators feel no need for the CFPB. After the hellish debacle of the Recession, we need an agency who is on the side of the average working Americans, not the banks. It's patently obvious whose interests these senators are serving--and it isn't the citizens of the USA... it's the wealthy. Enough already. You are fooling no one!

Director Cordray has been doing an outstanding job. This attempt to block his continuance in a job which he has been doing very, very well is a transparent power grab by Republicans who answer only to their Corporate masters. An up and down Senate vote on his re-nomination is imperative. Do not let these obstructionists destroy our democratic process.

Dear GOP, I would rather see you vote on keeping tax loopholes for your friends as this seems to matter to you and would give the voting public a clearer view of what's really important to you.

Let Rich Cordray do the job for which he was appointed. Many consumers would be able to contribute more wealth to our society and live "the American dream" if they weren't constantly plagued by predatory lenders. Consumers need this protection.

OUTRAGED that you would even think of blocking/ending Rich Cordray's leadership on this nomination. He is doing a valuable thing for the American people to help curb corruption amidst our banking system, which the REPUBLICANS have let get out of control and almost DESTROY the economy of this country!! SUPPORT CORDRAY'S LEADERSHIP NOW...or be unelected in 2014!!!!!!

Oh, so we are to velieve that there are no individuals in this country who are Republicans who would benefit from the CFPB's being able to do its job! You egomaniacs need to recognize that GREED and DUPLICITY abound, and you are supposed to be capable of assisting citizens as needed. You so often come across as totally isolated from the nation as a whole, and is NOT the position you are entitled to have. Stop being childish and acting like bullies. It is time to be deeply thoughtful about needs that are compromised for the rest of us because you are too stubborn and self-absorbed with your ideology.

Blocking this nomination is nothing short of criminal! Every Senator who participates in this monstrous attack on democracy should be recalled forthwith! Every minute that the 43 continue in this charade, all that they prove is that they hate the will of the people (democracy), have no respect for their oaths of office, and are determined to destroy the Constitution and substitute a plutocracy for the Noble Experiment that our Forefathers brought forth on this continent. Shame on the lot of them, and a pox on all their houses!

This is all "about keeping the game rigged" so "consumers remain in the dark -- and a few bad actors can rake in big profits." This is as perfect a summary as I have EVER read.

Cordray seems to have the integrity and leadership to correct and prevent bad loans and mortgages. The Republicans apparently want to go back to the Gilded Age, before Teddy Roosevelt, a Republican, cleaned things up.
