The bill we passed holds Wall Street accountable for the financial crisis and restores economic stability by reining in the reckless excesses of the financial industry. We have effectively shut down the casino economy that gambled away 8 million American jobs and trillions in savings. And we have made sure that the American people will never again have to bailout the big banks.

- Victory for Americans: This bill is an historic victory for Main Street and a rare defeat to banks and their lobbyists who used every weapon in their arsenal – $500 million to lobby against reform, millions in paid advertisements – to try to kill the bill.
- A No Vote Was a Vote for Wall Street: Nearly two years after the financial crisis began, some Republicans are still trying to protect their banker friends, stalling the process and inserting loopholes for special interests. There is simply no reasonable justification for voting against this bill.
- Landmark Consumer Protection: Consumers will now have an independent advocate on their side to prevent tricks and traps related to mortgages, payday loans, credit cards, student loans and checking accounts. They will be empowered with information that clearly explains their choices, allowing them to make the best financial decisions.
- Shining Light on Shadow Markets and Reining the Wall Street Casino: The $600 trillion derivatives market will now operate in the open, so regulators can catch problems before they happen. Gambler will be required to prove that they actually have the money to cover their bets, before they make them. This was the problem with AIG.
- Preventing Taxpayer Bailouts: Firms will not be allowed to use your money to gamble for their profit. They will have every incentive to return to focusing on the real role of banks in the real economy – extending credit to help businesses create jobs. The government will have the authority to step in and safely shut down failing financial firms.
